

Question:

Can an individual sole trader (scientist/inventor) make a submission? The forms are all for a company making a submission. Is this a requirement?

Answer:

Annex II to the call for expression of interest, which is necessary for the fulfilment of selection criteria, requires the applicants to be private/public law body with legal form.

Furthermore, the call for expression of interest clearly requires that the applicant must be able to deliver the substance for marking large quantities of fuel, as the applicant who submitted the selected substance will be eligible to contract the supplies of the substance to EU Member States (please see points 5.3.1. and point 6 of the call for expression of interest).
