This table shows the total number of pending cases under the AC at the end of 2011: it aggregates the figures from the yearly tables.

The existence of discrepancies in the number of cases reported by the initiating CA and the counterpart CA can be explained by several factors, such as a disagreement between Competent Authorities on the opening or the closing dates of the case or a disagreement between CAs on whether a case is admissible under the Arbitration Convention.

The existence of discrepancies in the number of cases reported by the initiating CA and the counterpart CA can be explained by several factors, such as a disagreement between Competent Authorities on the opening or the closing dates of the case or a disagreement between CAs on whether a case is admissible under the Arbitration Convention.
