

ICIJ is a donor-supported newsroom and global investigative journalism network. Our cross-border stories reveal broken systems and widespread corruption that undermine the public good. We expose wrongdoing so the world can make it right.

Our Investigations

Our revolutionary collaborations have catalyzed social, political and regulatory change in dozens of countries.

Our Pulitzer-Prize winning Panama Papers is widely regarded as one of the most essential stories of our time. Our investigation revealed vast financial networks used by the rich and powerful to conceal wealth and avoid taxes. Publication led to the toppling of several world leaders and the recovery of hundreds of millions of tax dollars by governments around the world.

The Pandora Papers exposed the secret financial structures that the wealthy and powerful use to hide assets, evade taxes and conceal illicit dealings. Our reporting triggered significant legal reforms, investigations and criminal indictments around the world.

Other ICIJ investigations include the Paradise Papers, Implant Files, Cyprus Confidential, Swazi Secrets, Shadow Diplomats, Deforestation Inc., Uber Files and Ericsson List.

Our Network

Headquartered in Washington, D.C, we are a network of 290 top investigative journalists in more than 100 countries whose broad range of knowledge, skills and experience reflect a variety of cultural contexts and global perspectives.

Our Tools

As pioneers in collaborative journalism, we developed innovative technology that makes data mining possible across massive data sets such as the 11.9 million documents that make up The Pandora Papers. Our newest technologies harness the power of machine learning to add nuance, depth and efficiency to our work.

Our platforms include I-Hub for secure collaboration, Datashare for analysis, Offshore Leaks for identifying financial relationships, and the International Medical Devices Database for tracking recalls, alerts and safety notes on thousands of healthcare instruments. Collectively, these platforms amplify our capacity to drive impactful global change.

Learn More: Visit www.icij.org